Mission Statement:

Urban Detectives is an open and independent platform for research and design of cities in the 21st century. Urban Detectives sets its own agenda, mediating and linking the disciplines involved in making cities.

Meeting the challenges of the 21st century metropolis requires for open-minded approaches, creative transformations, reconsiderations of what we see today without losing those things learned in the past. Thinking beyond disciplines and petrified political views, experimenting new with roles, include all agents, communicating open-source are necessary requirements.

Urban Detectives takes the experimental intensive workshop as a useful tool, to quickly discover other practices, changed views and new paradigms, form new alliances, ways of communication. The environment of cross-cultural exchange, makes differences and petrified values visible and allows for valuable reflections on the cities that we build.
